A. Hi, Scott!

I visited the Aksu-Zhabagly Nature Reserve today. It's the oldest in Central Asia. It has got lots of mountains, hills, rivers and plants. It's also home to snow leopards. They have got amazing white fur with black and grey spots. In the past people hunted them, but now they are a protected species!

I saw one up on the mountain and I took a picture.
I'll show it to you when I get back!

Take care,
Ulan

B. Hi, Ulan,

I'm at Stonehenge which is one of Britain's oldest monuments. It's about 5000 years old. No one knows how people got the mysterious stones here. Each stone is around four metres high and weighs twenty five tons! Pollution from cars is damaging the monument. Stonehenge is very important and it's a wonderful place to visit. I learnt so much!

Bye for now,

Today in my Blog, I'm talking about Baikonur Cosmodrome Museum. It's my favourite museum in Kazakhstan. You can learn all about the life of cosmonauts and see spacesuits and helmets! Outside the museum you can even see a full-size model of the Soyuz spaceship and the Buran shuttle. I think the best thing is going inside the Buran-you can sit in the cabin just like the pilot! Also, don't forget to visit the house of cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin! If you come to Kazakhstan it's worth a visit!

Hi, Bloggers!

I'm at the National Space Centre in England. It's an interesting place to visit! It has got one of the largest planetariums in the UK. You can see lots of exciting things inside, and travel to all the planets! There are other fun activities, too. Drive a car on Mars, see Venus in 3D or take a photo that makes you look like an alien!

You should try to visit next time you are in England, it's great!

1. The National Space centre is in Scotland. no
2. You can see spacesuits at the Cosmodrome Museum. _____
3. The planetarium is one of the biggest in England. _____
4. You can see a small model of the Soyuz outside the Museum. _____
